School of the Wild

The Bellevue CSD has been participating in a "School of the Wild" program for 5th grade students over the last several years. Earlier this week they were at Felderman Park (and the Mill Creek area) where a DNR representative from the Manchester hatchery came to stock rainbow trout. The students were allowed to help move the fish. Students also traveled to various parts of the area and county to learn a variety of outdoor skills.

Mr. Kueter assisted students in learning how to read a compass.

Earth Day

Many groups participated in Earth Day recently, including the Bellevue FFA group that has adopted a stretch of highway in the area where members will clean up regularly.

Mammal Day and the DNR

Mr. Reuter once again had the annual "Mammal Day" for his students in Field Science class where students were allowed to bring in their mammals (pets) to learn about the differences and similarities.

Additionally, the Field Science had a visit from DNR officer, and Bellevue resident, Andrew Keil who shared a variety of information about the wildlife in the area, specifically sharing various skins/hides.
